WASHINGTON HERALD BUREAU, 625 King Street, Alexandria, Va., April 28.—Erection of a new and modern jail or improvement of the present prison was considered to-night at a meeting of the public property committee of the common council. State and municipal officials attended.

B. F. Smith, a Washington architect, submitted plans for a new structure, also plans for the remodeling of the present jail. Improvement of the present jail by replacing the inner structure with a tier of steel cells would cost, it is estimated about $3,000.

J. T. Maston, secretary of the State board of charities and corrections, who made a recent visit to the jail, recommended that certain improvements be made.

Arguments for and against the resolution to make it obligatory in bakers to give sixteen ounces to each loaf of bread were considered at a meeting of the public property committee of the council last night. The bakers contend that if they gave a full pound it would mean that the retail price of bread would be increased 1 cent. A recent decision permitted the bakers to sell bread by the loaf and not by the pound.

Several shoulders of smoked meat and minor articles were stolen when thieves looted the store of J. C. Milburn at an early hour this morning. They entered by forcing a panel of the rear door.

Rev. Arthur Selden Lloyd, D. D., bishop coadjutor of the diocese of Virginia, was given a reception by the men of Christ Episcopal Church last night in the parish hall of the church. Several hundred men, including a number of professors and ministers from the Episcopal Theological Seminary, also many others from the other Episcopal churches, attended. Rev. Dr. Lloyd made an address. Refreshments were served by the Ladies Parish Guild. The church choir gave special music.

Andrew Jackson, a negro laborer, was found dead early today on the stoop of the house of Lizzie Grady, a negro, North Fairfax street. Heart trouble is believed to have caused Jackson's death.

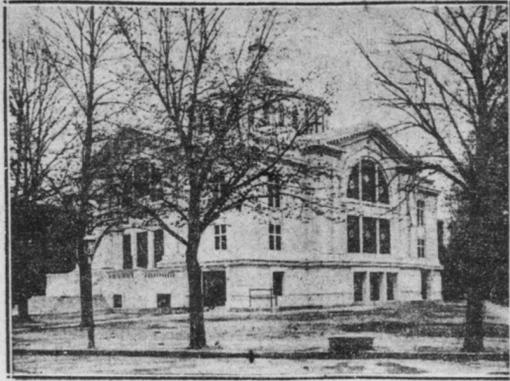

Evangelistic services at the Second Presbyterian Church are progressing and the congregation each night is large. Rev. E. L. Williams, of Newport News, Va., is conducting the services. Mrs. Sevier sang a song at the service to-night.

CHURCH HAS A DOME

Ingram Memorial Edifice to Be Opened Sunday.

DEDICATION MAY 12 TO 15

Pastor Frizzell, After Three Years of Organization Work, Will Preach First Sermon on "Rock and Church," When Large Attendance Is Expected at Unique Building.

When the doors of Ingram Memorial Congregational Church, at Tenth street and Massachusetts avenue northeast, are thrown open for the first time, Sunday morning, Rev. J. W. Frizzell, the pastor, will inherit the fruits of nearly three years' struggle, and Washington will have a new house of worship that is unique in the United States.

Instead of a steeple this church has a dome, and there are four imposing entrances, while the interior has an immense auditorium with club quarters on two sides, a vestibule on the third, and the choir on the fourth, the pulpit being under the vault, almost in the center of the building.

Reception to the Founders. O. H. Ingram, former member of Congress, contributed $45,000, and as the largest donor, a reception will be given in his honor and the other founders in May, when four days of dedicatory exercises will be held.

The church will be dedicated May 12 to the "physical and social welfare of the people," on May 13, to "patriotism and civic welfare," on May 14 to the donors in the form of a reception, and on the following Sunday religious services will mark the completion of the dedication, being held morning, afternoon and evening.

Subject of First Sermon. Rev. Mr. Frizzell will preach Sunday on the subject, "The Rock and the Church," telling how to build a House of God on a firm and lasting basis, and how to keep the soul as firmly fixed.

"The people are not coming to hear the sermon as much as they are to see the church," said the pastor, yesterday, "and therefore I shall spend most of my verbiage pointing out to them the handsome features of the edifice, of which I am prouder than of my right hand. We are expecting a huge attendance."

"Embarrassing financial difficulties" and a "unhealthy condition financially, numerically, and spiritually in the congregation," led Rev. Dr. George P. Wilson to resign the pastorate of the Northminster Presbyterian Church, according to the statement he offered the trustees at a meeting last night.

Dr. Wilson announced his intention of resigning some time ago, but not until the meeting last night did it become known that the strained financial condition of his church brought about this action. His resignation will become effective October 1.

In a letter read to the congregation last night, Rev. Dr. Wilson said: "In accordance with my announcement that I would resign from the pastorate of this church, I have petitioned the Presbytery to dissolve my relation with the church at its June meeting.

"The present financial condition of the church and a lack of healthy growth financially, numerically, and spiritually on the face of it make my pastorate impossible. I ask the congregation to join with me in my petition to the presbytery."

Trustees of the church are loath to see Rev. Dr. Wilson leave and intend to put forth every effort to have him change his decision. In order to clear up any financial difficulties that may confront the church, a committee will be appointed to report May 28, when final action on the pastor's resignation will be taken.

It is believed by the trustees that if the financial situation can be cleared up, Rev. Dr. Wilson can be induced to withdraw his resignation. Dr. Wilson has been in Washington ten years, and has been pastor of Northminster Presbyterian Church since it was founded. There are about 200 in the congregation.

Officers Decorated by Gen. George H. Harries.

Many friends of the guardsmen turned out to see their favorite officers decorated. Secretary of War Dickinson had promised to award the prizes and medals, but owing to a previous engagement he was unable to be present.

Gen. George H. Harries made a short address in which he praised the guardsmen for the work, and recounted the growth of the National Guard, both as to numbers and efficiency.

He urged them to be thoughtful of their comrades, and told them that in their efforts to excel others, they should keep the untrained and untrained in order that they might, in time, become worthy of decorations.

The prizes, most of which were given by business firms, consisted of chairs, umbrellas, canes, rugs, wine, cigars, scarfs, perfumery, cutlery, clocks, paintings, fishing tackle, boots, shirts, and, last, but not least, the ever acceptable cash.

TAGGART BEATEN; KERN FOR SENATE

had really cast its vote against the proposition. Republicans Are Assailed. The platform adopted threw few bouquets at the party and little interest was manifested in any except the tariff and liquor planks, both of which the Republicans lodged in their platform. The tariff plank said:

"We condemn the cowardice of the Republican party in Indiana in failing to meet the issues in a fair and manly way; that in its endeavor to gain Democratic votes it has, on the tariff question, one proposition in its State platform and a different and opposing proposition in its several Congressional platforms; that by indorsement it commends President Taft, who approved the Payne-Aldrich tariff law, and in the same resolutions commends Senator Beveridge, who voted against the measure, for his course in opposing such tariff law. President Taft has indorsed Cannon and Aldrich. We submit to the people whether relief may be expected from a party standing for Taft, Cannon, Aldrich, and Beveridge all at the same time."

Text of Liquor Plank. The liquor plank follows: "The Democratic party has always advocated the largest measure of liberty to the individual citizen consistent with the public good. It still recognizes and believes in the old Democratic principle of local self-government. We recognize the rights of the people of the State to settle the question as to whether intoxicating liquors shall be sold in their respective communities, and to that end we favor the amendment and modification of the present local option law so as to make incorporated cities, townships, and the territory in townships outside of such cities the units of election; but such amendment and modification shall be so drawn as not to affect and to preserve the reversionary laws of the State, provided that territory dry under the present option law shall remain so for two years from the date of such election."

The declaration in favor of city and township local option and the modification of the present law forces the liquor question into the campaign despite the fact that the Republicans ignored it, and the party will be compelled to defend the county local option.

AUTO HEAD RESIGNS

H. Chadwick Hunter Goes West for Health.

Writes Letter to Secretary. Prominent Motorist Assigns Illness as Reason for Retiring as President of the Organization—Information Comes in Letter Dated Denver, Active Worker Among Autoists.

H. Chadwick Hunter has resigned as president of the Automobile Club of Washington. This information was contained in a letter received last night by the secretary of the club, Elliott P. Hough.

Mr. Hunter assigns ill health as the reason for tendering his resignation from an organization in which he has always been a foremost worker. He requests that it become effective at once. The club is now in a most flourishing condition, he says, and with the club house at Georgia avenue and Piney Branch road the daily rendezvous of larger crowds of members than ever before in the history of the club, he felt he could retire without jeopardizing the club's interests.

Mr. Hunter has been ailing for several months, but it was only a few days ago that he left the city for a long Western trip. Prior to leaving Washington, he confided to Secretary Hough that if there was not an immediate improvement in his health, he would resign. The letter containing the resignation was dated Denver, April 28.

"OTHER INQUIRY NEEDED"---OLDROYD

Two Monument Associations' Funds Disappear.

According to statements made last night by O. H. Oldroyd, assistant adjutant general of the Department of the Potomac, G. A. R., the funds of two more monument associations need investigation.

It was stated that at the time the soldiers of the First District Regiment, under command of Col. George H. Harries were mustered out at the close of the Spanish-American war, nearly every man contributed for the erection of a monument to the memory of the soldiers of their regiment who lost their lives. Nothing has been heard of the matter since.

Mr. Oldroyd has found an old circular among some of his papers which bears the following: "1861-1865, Soldiers and Sailors' National Monument Association, Washington, D. C." A half-tone of the United States Capitol Building is shown, with the following "object":

"The erection of a monument at the Capital of the nation in honor and memory of the officers and enlisted men of the army and navy of the United States who fell in the war of the rebellion, and to serve as a perpetual reminder to the present and future generations of the sentiment entertained by all loyal people for the soldiers and sailors who risked their lives in defense of our beloved country."

A list of the charter members is given among whom the following are living: William M. Chambers, A. F. Dinmore, James Edgar, John Flinn, William H. Puss, J. W. Harsha, Hiram Johnson, John A. Joyce, John Middleton, J. M. Miller, Frank H. Moores, H. A. Meyers, William H. Norton, J. B. Royce, R. B. Schwickard, Israel W. Stone, A. S. Taber, James Tanner, E. D. Tracy, M. M. Whitney, and Lawrence.

THEATERS WITHOUT USHERS.

Arrangement for Convenience of Patrons of Film Shows. To facilitate seating of the audiences of moving picture theaters and other amusement halls there are no reserved seats and where persons come and go during a performance when the auditorium is darkened a New York man has patented a system of electric lamp signals to designate unoccupied seats.

The house is so arranged that the visitor must travel certain aisles to get to certain rows of seats. Each seat is provided with a lamp which remains lighted as long as the seat remains unoccupied. As fast as the seats are occupied, says Popular Electricity, the lamps go out.

The lamps being adjacent to each row of seats in a section, the unoccupied seats are determined at a glance. When each section is full a turnstile in the aisle leading to that particular section is automatically locked. When one or more seats are vacated and persons wish to leave, the turnstile is unlocked. All the seats are connected by circuits with a signal board in the ticket seller's booth, and as soon as all the seats are occupied the "all seats occupied" sign is displayed.

Bachelors Boycott Serbian Beauty.

From the Pall Mall Gazette. Sattika Dushitsh, the belle of Zabyora, writes our Belgrade correspondent, is boycotted by all the bachelors of that village, who have sworn not to marry her because she caused the death of two of her admirers.

Sattika declared to Milenko and Theodor, who strove for her hand, that she would bestow it on whichever showed the greatest physical endurance. They decided on a swimming contest in the Morava River, which ended in death by drowning of Milenko and pleurisy for Theodor, which carried him off in three days.

The girl declares she has, nevertheless, received offers of marriage in private from some who boycott her in public.
